My Artist Statement

"My soul is deeply astounded by nature's simple beauty with its ever-changing light and mood. As much as I love being in the forests, I am more drawn to wide open spaces where the earth meets the sky. These boundless expanding horizons are most liberating for my spirit and creative imagination. I am also known for chasing into oncoming storms to feel their power while standing in awe and wonder. There is this brief moment of a deep stillness before the clouds furiously unleash that I love to feel. It's so strong you can almost hold that silence in your palms. The colors are rich while there is still light shining through a slight opening in the sky. Once that light disappears, I start running!"

"I am touched when my viewers tell me they can feel my paintings. That awareness is my reward. May my paintings carry the observer's heart to that beautiful timeless place of quietude where I was held motionless in awe and wonder."
